"WE WANT A PERFORMANCE THAT MAKES ANFIELD SMILE"

Good afternoon and welcome back to Anfield for our Premier League fixture against Tottenham Hotspur.

After last weekend we have been the subject of much debate and much criticism I imagine. This is how it is when you lose matches. We were the subject of much praise from August to the start of January. During that period there were many kind words and feelings of positivity and optimism. The nature of this industry means these feelings can change quickly – in either direction.

For me, situations like this are simple: the praise belongs with the players and the criticism with me. I am the manager, I make the decisions and I am prepared to be accountable for results when they are not as good.

What I think is very clear is that there is nothing I can say at this stage that will change minds or perceptions. It will, as is always the case, come down to actions, performances and results. During this difficult start to the New Year I have spoken a lot about my belief and faith in the players. This has not changed even one per cent, but talking will not change opinions in this moment.

It is maybe appropriate that today we face one of the top teams in the country. Before and after the recent Chelsea home game, people asked me a lot about our results against the 'top-six sides'. Someone even referenced a 'mini-league' that we are top of? The meaning being that our results against Chelsea, Tottenham, Manchester City, Arsenal and Manchester United are better than anyone else's.

There is one major problem with this, I think: there is no such thing as a 'mini league' – there is, for us, only the Premier League. We will not be satisfied with being the best team with results against these five other teams only. Our ambitions are to be the best team involving ourselves and the 19 other clubs.

I know – because I see and work with the players each and every day – that we do not have an attitude issue in this area. We are not complacent and we are not arrogant enough to think we can pick and choose where and when we perform. But of course, these are words and we need actions.

I think our opponent today knows our strength and our ability. When we have played each other, this season and last, we have shown them our power. They will know the talent in our side and respect it, I'm sure.

I welcome Mauricio Pochettino, his players, staff, officials and supporters of Tottenham to Anfield for the game. Mauricio is again proving why he is rightly regarded as not just one of the best managers in England, but also across Europe. His team is improving season on season and showing they have the ability to contest the Premier League title on a consistent basis.

I am sure they will also be one of the best sides remaining in the Europa League and I would predict a strong challenge from them in that competition also.

I think this afternoon's game is one that will really excite a football supporter, regardless of whether you have direct interest in LFC or Spurs. I can only speak for us, in terms of how we will approach it, but I know we go into this game with an ambitious outlook and looking to attack and fight for every kick, tackle and header. I am pretty sure this will be a game of high energy and high intensity. It is my hope that we can produce a performance that makes Anfield smile.

"THINGS CAN CHANGE QUICKLY IN FOOTBALL AND WE HAVE THE CHANCE TO GET BACK ON TRACK"

There is no doubt that there is focus on us this afternoon to react, and react in a positive way; react not just to the disappointment of the performance and result at Hull City last weekend, but to a disappointing start to the new year in general.

January wasn't what any of us had hoped for and it certainly wasn't what any of us expected, from ourselves as individuals or the team. However, it's important to view the start to the year in the context of what came before, not just since the season started but going back over the past 12 months.

As the manager has said repeatedly, the season is still very much alive and there is still a big prize to compete for. We have a responsibility to the club, the supporters and ourselves to make this campaign a success. That is still very possible, if we get back to the standards and level of performance we produced previously.

It's on us to ensure it was a 'bad month' and not a bad season. We, as players, can still ensure this season is remembered as showing progress and achievement. Everyone at the club, from players through to all the staff, have worked extremely hard up until now and it's vital we don't let all that hard work go to waste because of a difficult January.

At the risk of repeating topics I've mentioned previously, the reaction is the most important thing and the reaction in training this week has been just what is needed to get back on track. None of us want to waste the work we've put in all season and everyone in training has shown the attitude we'll need to recapture the form we had previously.

In football you can regain that positive feeling as quickly as it is possible to lose it. Things can turn quickly and we have the opportunity and ability to do that.

Spurs know how good we can be and how difficult we are to play against when we are on it. They'll know what to expect from us today, in the same way we know the quality in their line-up. In many respects it's the perfect game to show to anyone who doubts us what we still have and what we can still produce. That's what we, as players, will be looking to do today.

Finally, on the subject of our opponents today, I wanted to mention what great class they showed as a club in how they dealt with the injury suffered by their former player Ryan Mason, at Chelsea a few weeks ago. It's the sort of incident that puts things into perspective for you as a player; that although it doesn't feel like it, there are more important things than winning and losing a match.

I have some good friends who are very close to Ryan and they've told me the support he had from key people at Spurs has given him a huge boost as he starts on the road to recovery. That includes their manager, the players and staff members; everyone who rallied round and was there for him in a difficult time.

Everyone who knows him well says what a top lad Ryan is, as well as being a top, top player, and it is great to see that his friends at Tottenham were still there for him in a time of need, even though he's moved on to another club.

Like everyone in the game we too wish Ryan a quick recovery and look forward to seeing him back on the pitch sooner rather than later.

Bessie with her fab competition entry

BESSIE'S GOT IT COVERED!

Meet the young and very talented artist behind today's matchday programme cover

At the start of the season it's fairly certain that 16-year-old Elizabeth Holt, a Reds fan from North Yorkshire, wasn't expecting to see her own work of art on the front cover of the Liverpool FC matchday programme. But as an LFC Official Junior Member she entered an exclusive Membership competition... and she won!

Towards the end of last year the club invited Junior Members to submit designs for the matchday programme cover for today's Premier League fixture against Tottenham Hotspur at Anfield, with the chance to win two tickets for the game and a framed copy of the cover signed by manager Jürgen Klopp. And here Elizabeth, or Bessie as she's usually called, takes up the story...

"I've had a lot of practice recently," she says modestly. "Over the last year I've been painting quite a lot, mostly portraits in watercolours.

"I chose the manager as my subject because I love his passion for the club, and also my nan is a big fan of Jürgen Klopp. So I thought, even if I didn't win, it would make a nice Christmas present for her. Now she's not only very happy, she's proud of me too!"

It took Bessie around three hours, over a couple of days, to complete her design. Then a few weeks later there was a phone-call to her home. "I got in from school and there was a message on our answerphone from a lady at the club asking me if I could please call her back.

"At first I thought it was maybe something to do with my Membership renewal, then when we rang back and she told us, I was speechless. I was at home with my mum and younger sister Tilly and we rang my dad who was just about to leave work – he was fairly speechless too!

"I texted my close friends and the next day at school assembly they were really happy for me, even those not really into football."

Today Bessie has brought her dad Dominic, whose family are all Liverpool FC fans, to the Spurs game, and she'll be Melwood-bound during February half-term to meet the manager in person and receive her signed print of the programme cover. "It still doesn't seem real!" she says. "I felt incredibly proud when I first saw the 'real' cover.

"I'm an Official Junior Member – Teen Red now – and have been for around five years. I've entered a couple of draws before but nothing like this. I'd urge every Liverpool FC fan my age to become a Member. You get loads of great stuff and the chance to enter competitions and win something like this – your own design on the LFC matchday programme cover for thousands and thousands of people to see.

"It's been absolutely amazing!"

THE CLUB'S OFFICIAL CHARITY

THIS IS ANFIELD THIS

Welcome to the annual Foundation Day of the club's official charity – and please get involved!

Every home game at Anfield is special, but today even more so. Foundation Day celebrates the official charity of Liverpool FC and our mission to bring together the LFC Family to create life-changing opportunities for children and young people in Merseyside and beyond.

Following last year's event, and to mark the LFC Foundation's new focus on improving the lives of youngsters, the second special day takes place at Anfield as the Reds welcome Tottenham Hotspur in the Premier League. Loads of fundraising activities are happening around the stadium, showcasing a wide range of Foundation programmes including Respect 4 All and Premier League Kicks.

All money raised will support the work of the charity, which delivers a range of programmes and works in partnership with other charities and non-profit organisations. The LFC Foundation is an independent charity funded through programme commissions such as the Premier League Charitable Fund, by donations and fundraising events and activities like today.

Fans are also being offered the chance to win a day in the life of Jürgen Klopp. The prize includes: guided tour of Melwood including the manager's office; meet the Reds first team and watch training; lunch with Jürgen then take him on for a game of paddle-tennis; photograph and signed shirt to take away.

All the details are at www.liverpoolfc.com/foundation. A £5 donation gives fans five chances to win and all proceeds will help support LFC Foundation.

HEART AS BIG AS LIVERPOOL

The Reds midfielder and LFC Foundation trustee on the power of positive thought and action

Lucas Leiva: 333 games for Liverpool, 234 of them in the Premier League, and a tidy number of appearances for the club in his other role: as a professional footballer who has consistently made time for other people, not least less fortunate youngsters in our local community.

On the pitch the midfielder, now 30, has pretty much seen it all with the Reds over the last decade: a goal v Havant & Waterlooville in the 2007/08 FA Cup that made him the first Brazilian to score for LFC; a red card in a Goodison derby defeat and a superb performance in a 4-1 win at Old Trafford in place of the injured Xabi Alonso, both in 2008/09; club player of the year the following season, then his best run of form cut short by a cruciate-ligament injury in 2011/12; recalls to the national team, the skipper's armband with Liverpool, speculation about his future, far and away the most appearances by a Brazilian player in the Premier League.... The list goes on.

It's fair to say that the LFC Foundation trustee is familiar with football's ups and downs and, to coin a phrase, has treated those two impostors just the same. The young lad who left home for a strange new world may have matured into a first-team veteran, but he's always maintained the same generosity of spirit and grounded outlook on life.

Here, then, is someone who can put some perspective on Liverpool's recent run of adverse results. "This moment for the team is not the best but maybe we should look around and take a little inspiration from other people less fortunate than ourselves, to help us keep believing and working hard to put things right."

Lucas refers specifically to the kind of young people he's met over the years at the LFC Foundation's Respect 4 All events.

Our man at one of the LFC Foundation's Respect 4 All events

This programme is designed for people with complex and additional needs, including visual impairment, learning difficulties and wheelchair users, for whom the club offers weekly football-based sessions with activities like skills-and-drills and penalty shoot-outs.

"I haven't been to as many just recently because of our fixture schedule," he admits. "But I try to be involved when I can, and other players here are the same too – there are many Foundation programmes that they try to support as much as possible. The manager, too, likes to help people. That's just the way he is. He's a busy man but I've been to places where he's also been involved and he's aware of the programmes. He finds time to help.

"Every time I have a chance to go and do something, it's just great to spend time with young people. A lot of them don't have the same opportunities as the rest of us, so you realise why it's important to help.

"When I go and spend time with the kids at Respect 4 All events, that's the most moving for me because I can see that they keep going, keep trying, and it makes you feel good to see this. Every time I go along, it reinforces what I believe as a human being: others don't have it so easy, so don't complain!

"You realise that you probably have more than you need and it underlines your values."

Ahead of the LFC Foundation's new focus upon creating life-changing opportunities for children and young people here and overseas, Lucas was one of several Reds first-teamers consulted for their own views. He's been unequivocal in his response: "Our fans are the best in the world when it comes to supporting the team on the pitch – now we'd love them to really get behind the Foundation.

"A lot of people might not know that the Foundation is distinct from the club, a separate thing. Of course we have a lot of support from the club and I've been in charity games where a lot of money was raised and donated to the LFC Foundation, which is a huge help.

Goalscorer at Plymouth

"THIS MOMENT FOR THE TEAM MAY NOT BE THE BEST BUT MAYBE WE SHOULD LOOK AROUND AND TAKE A LITTLE INSPIRATION FROM OTHERS LESS FORTUNATE"

"But the most important thing is that we tell people that we really need their help; that we may be linked to LFC but we still need the fans to help – because that's the way the Foundation can go forward and achieve even greater things, with the support of the LFC family.

"I think that people can help and I think that they will. Liverpool is a very healthy football club, and in the same way we want to be a very healthy foundation."

For many Liverpool fans, that might just start here on Foundation Day. "Every year we have it now, this special and important moment for the Foundation. It's a way to tell people more about the work being done, often behind the scenes, and more about how we'd like them to help too.

"Of course children are the future of every city, every country. The LFC Foundation supports a lot of causes but now there is more attention on young people to give them opportunities in life that they probably wouldn't have.."

So, as the Reds aim to rediscover their form in today's big game at Anfield against Tottenham Hotspur, there's a message from Lucas for everyone with LFC in their hearts:

"Look around and you'll see that there are always good moments and bad moments. If you believe in hard work, if you stick together and keep fighting, in football as in life, things will get better."

LET'S GIVE A BIT BACK

Away from the action Lucas isn't the only one keen to get today's message across

JURGEN KLOPP: COME TOGETHER

"I am really pleased to be an ambassador for the LFC Foundation and help to raise awareness of the fantastic work that they do in the community. It's important to come together and care for each other, that's how the world should be. Young people are our future and they need support and chances so we should do everything that we can do."

DANNY INGS: A WAY TO REACH OUT

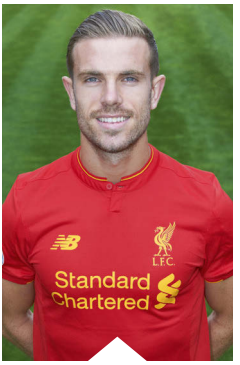
"Obviously LFC is such a hugely-followed club - it's humongous, you can see the worldwide fanbase - and the Foundation gives us the chance to reach out to all those fans at home and around the world who might not be so fortunate as others; people with disabilities and from different backgrounds whom we can help.

"There are people all round the world who will never have the opportunity to become a professional athlete, so I think it is important for people like myself and other players that we give them an opportunity to be a part of a journey, to show them what Liverpool FC Foundation is all about."

JAMES MILNER: UP TO US TO HELP

"I am very fortunate to do this for a living. And this is a great opportunity for all of us to give something back to the community. Whether that's getting people involved in football, or helping people who have no interest in football, if we can help them in any way, maybe they might get involved in football afterwards once the Foundation has helped them.

"The money that is spent and earned in football, and the amount of people that come and watch us, makes me feel we are very fortunate as players. We have a high profile and we're lucky that people look up to us, so it's up to us to set the right examples. If we can use that to raise funds or put on programmes for children to come and enjoy, whether it's football or sport or something else, it's a great opportunity for us to do that."



JORDAN HENDERSON: KIDS ARE OUR FUTURE

"When I first came to Liverpool the biggest thing for me was just how passionate the city was, especially about football. I think that can transmit to the charity, whose people are passionate about what they do. At the end of the day it's for kids and they're our future, so it's really key.

"Fun is important, in terms of what we try to do. The more fun it is, whether educational or not, the more children will want to get involved. Then other kids will see this and they'll want to get involved too. That applies to the players: we benefit as well because seeing them happy makes us happy too.

"The Foundation is separate from the club but still part of LFC and I think the players have a big part to play in making the charity become even more successful."

"THE BLUEPRINT FOR SUCCESS IS ALREADY IN PLACE AND WE CAN GET BACK TO IT"

During February 1986 we lost in the League Cup semi-final first leg against QPR, drew with York City in the FA Cup fifth round before winning the replay, and suffered league defeats to Ipswich Town and Everton. Coincidentally, there was also a 1-1 draw with Manchester United among that run of results.

It was certainly a bad time in the season and we were rightly getting criticised by a lot of people. In many ways it was similar to what Jürgen Klopp's team are going through right now.

Back then we managed to turn it around and went on to win the double, the derby defeat being our last loss of the season. I'm not saying Liverpool will go on to finish first this year. What I am pointing out is that a bad run can be overcome and be quickly followed by success.

The best way to turn things around is through hard work on the training-ground every day and maybe a word or two in the dressing-room from the senior players.

Talk of coming up with a 'Plan B' to change things really doesn't wash with me. What team really does have an alternative way of playing that they can implement just like that? Surely your 'Plan B' should just be to up your performance levels as a team and individuals?

Right now I think there is, understandably, a dip in confidence among some of the players because of the results we've had recently. That's natural. When that happens you tend to take an extra touch on the ball or think longer about when to release it. Both are the exact opposite to how this Klopp side functions at its best. Quick, incisive passing, with lots of players running off the ball to create space and move defenders around, is how it worked so well before Christmas. Getting back to that is now the key.

If the players do want a boost in belief they only need to look at some of their own displays between August and December. At their best, very few sides could live with them and I'm sure the coaching staff will be reinforcing that message.

The blueprint for success is already in place, it's just a case of getting back to it now. There were signs it might happen against Chelsea recently; for spells that night Liverpool were the dominant side and could have had a second goal.

Against Hull, though – particularly in the first half as the manager admitted afterwards – the standard dropped again. Strangely, I think as supporters right now we are more concerned going into games against teams such as Hull rather than this evening's encounter with a side like Spurs. For whatever reason, we've done really well in these contests against teams in and around the top four.

Tonight is a chance to ensure that continues. If it does we then need to build on it because it could be the catalyst for a strong finish to the season.

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR FC

Founded: 1882 (as Hotspur FC) Stadium: White Hart Lane Capacity: 36,284 Nickname: Spurs, The Lilywhites Major honours: Division One champions 1950/51, 1960/61; Second Division champions 1919/20, 1949/50; FA Cup winners 1901, 1921, 1961, 1962, 1967, 1981, 1982, 1991; Football League Cup winners 1971, 1973, 1999, 2008; UEFA Cup Winners' Cup winers 1963; UEFA Cup winners 1972, 1984; Anglo-Italian League Cup winners 1971; Charity Shield winners 1921, 1951, 1961, 1962, 1967, 1981, 1991 (last three shared); Last season: third in Premier League; FA Cup fifth round; League Cup third round; UEFA Europa League Round of 16.

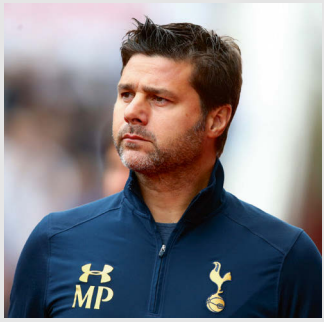
Season so far: Spurs have been gaining momentum over the past couple of months and are now unbeaten in 11 in all competitions and have moved up to third place in the Premier League standings.They have lost just twice, fewer than any other team in the competition.

On the road: Still unbeaten at White Hart Lane, both league defeats to date came during a fortnight between the end of November and mid-December. Spurs went down 2-1 at Chelsea before being edged out by the only goal at Manchester United. They have won four of their 12 away games (Stoke, Middlesbrough, Southampton and Watford) and drawn six (Everton, West Brom, Bournemouth, Arsenal, Man City and Sunderland). Only Middlesbrough have drawn as many away games.

Last time out: A 1-0 home win over Middlesbrough last Saturday saw Harry Kane score the winner from the penalty spot - his 14th Premier League goal of the season.

POCHETTINO MASTERMINDING ANOTHER TITLE CHALLENGE

Mauricio Pochettino impressed everybody with the manner in which his Tottenham team launched a genuine title bid in only his second season at the helm in 2015/16. The ex-Espanyol and Southampton boss has seen his side maintain those standards and they come into today's game lying second in the table. The 44-year-old took charge of a Premier League game for the 100th time as Spurs defeated Middlesbrough last Saturday.



"WE NEED TIME TO TRY TO CREATE A STRONG TEAM, A STRONG CLUB, A WINNING MENTALITY, WE NEED TO FINISH THE NEW STADIUM. AT THAT POINT WE WILL BE READY TO FIGHT LIKE NOW BUT WITH MORE TOOLS TO BE ONE OF THE BEST TEAMS IN THE WORLD."

HOW THEY LINED UP IN LAST PL GAME v MIDDLESBROUGH

TACTICS BOARD

48 Marcus Edwards midfielder (18) English
Highly-rated attack-minded player who made his debut as a sub in the 5-0 win over Gillingham in the EFL Cup in September.

TOBY HUNGRY FOR WINS

Centre-back Toby Alderweireld was pleased with last weekend's win over Middlesbrough, saying: "You are always hungry before a game at the Lane but it gave us the feeling we could get a win. We defended well and could have made it easier by scoring a second or third goal but it's important to win these games, especially with teams around us dropping points. It was important to win, especially with Liverpool away being our next game."

Last time here

[In the Prem] honours ended even as the teams drew 1-1 with both number 10s on target. Philippe Coutinho side-footed the Reds ahead in front of the Kop after a one-two with Daniel Sturridge. But Spurs earned a share of the spoils when Harry Kane produced a fine turn and shot just 12 minutes later after good work from Christian Eriksen, who did well to keep the ball in play before flicking it to Kane.

Home and away, Spurs have kept four clean-sheets in their last five top-flight fixtures. Only Manchester City (twice) have managed to breach the North Londoners' defence.

England striker Harry Kane has scored against 23 of the 25 different teams he has played against in the Premier League for Tottenham so far in his career.

12

Spurs are the only Premier League team yet to lose a home game this season. Of their dozen fixtures at White Hart Lane they have won 10 and drawn two with Liverpool one of the sides to hold them.

Last time there
An early-season clash at White Hart Lane saw the game end all-square in a 1-1 draw with both left-backs on target in the second-half. James Milner put the Reds ahead from the penalty spot after Erik Lamela was judged to have brought down Roberto Firmino. But Danny Rose earned Spurs a point when he produced an accurate strike with 18 minutes remaining.

Killer Q: Which future Tottenham Hotspur manager made the first of his eleven appearances against Liverpool for Spurs in the 7-0 defeat to the Reds here at Anfield in September 1978?

Answer: Osvaldo Ardiles.

READY FOR REDS

Left-back Ben Davies was happy to play his part in a shut-out as Spurs saw off Middlesbrough last Saturday to come into today's match unbeaten in eleven. "It's what you want to do as a defender – keep clean-sheets – and we were able to do that. We've seen that Liverpool are not on the greatest run but they're still a very, very good team and they're going to be dangerous to play against, especially at home. It's one that we're looking forward to."

LFC FOUNDATION

Helping children and young people: how together we can make the difference

We hope you're enjoying Foundation Day. It's about having fun, getting involved and feeling a sense of pride and achievement as together the LFC Family helps to make a real difference to the social issues we all care about.

The mission of the LFC Foundation, as the official charity of Liverpool Football Club, is to create life-changing opportunities for children and young people at home and overseas. Because we're all part of Liverpool FC and we all look out for each other, particularly those in need.

Building on the club's work in the community over the past 20 years, the Foundation was formed in 2010 as a financially-independent charity to harness the power of the club badge and the passion of our incredible fans to improve the lives of others.

Just recently we've been speaking to Reds from around the world to understand how we can best support those issues closest to your hearts – and it's the challenges faced by children and young people which matter the most.

Change, especially when it's driven by fans, can move mountains. And this is what we pledge to do:

- Engage with youngsters and improve their health and wellbeing through sports participation and physical activity.
- Raise their aspirations and skills for a better life through learning and training programmes.
- Engage stakeholders and supporters to inspire action.
- Operate transparently, honestly and with strong governance, and celebrate the successes of young people we work with.

Local youngsters on the pitch at Anfield

So, about our programmes. The LFC Foundation delivers a range of initiatives and activities on Merseyside and beyond, addressing the key issues of sport and health, education and employment.

Programmes based upon sport and health include: Premier League Kicks, using the power of football and sport to inspire young people in high-need areas with free-to-attend sessions; Premier League 4 Sport, providing youngsters with the chance to try different sports, from table-tennis to running, in the heart of their communities; Premier League Girls Football, creating opportunities for young women to engage in football and raising awareness of the female game within the community; Respect 4 All, an LFC Foundation project designed for people with complex and additional needs and offering weekly sessions all over the local region; and a Military Veterans programme, supporting vets in Merseyside back into civilian life by offering football coaching sessions and local tournaments.

Among our education initiatives

Half-time training session: something to tell your classmates about are a series of classroom and sports-based activities to help young people achieve their potential, delivered in partnership with the Premier League's Primary Stars offering. The LFC Foundation College provides an innovative learning experience for 16-19-year-olds enabling them to gain a variety of qualifications; while Kicks Football+ is a new joint-initiative with Merseyside Fire & Rescue Service using football as an incentive and encouraging personal growth and development among youngsters.

The third key issue, employability, sees another new initiative called the Premier League Works programme giving students the confidence and experience to make a positive transition back into education, access training or gain meaningful employment. Premier League Enterprise, meanwhile, aims to reduce underachievement, address the skills gaps and increases understanding of enterprise and entrepreneurship.

And in addition to delivering our own programmes, the LFC Foundation also works in partnership with three local charities and not-for-profit organisations: Alder Hey Children's Charity which raises vital funds to help make Alder Hey in the Park a world-class, patient-friendly hospital; Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine which works to break the cycle of poor health and poverty through pioneering research; and University of Liverpool & INTO University, a partnership created to specifically reach young people in the Anfield area who have limited interaction with higher education.

LFC Foundation. It's here, it's happening and it's life-changing. And we'd love you to be a part.

ANFIELD TREATS FOR YOUNG FANS

Practising their skills on the pitch and watching the big match from the stands – local youngsters have enjoyed both experiences this season.

Liverpool FC Academy youngsters were given a warm Anfield welcome this season when they trained on the pitch during half-time in the Premier League games against Stoke City and Manchester City. For the Potters match, coach James Williams took the pre-Academy side onto the pitch for some small-sided games in front of the 53,000-strong crowd. Then, for the visit of Manchester City, fellow coach Ryan Vaughan did the same with the Under-7s, and again the reception was first-class.

Head of Academy pre-recruitment Ian Barrigan said it was "absolutely brilliant to be able to take the boys onto the Anfield pitch to something like this. For them to see the likes of Roberto Firmino and Adam Lallana up-close is an unbelievable experience and one that will live with them for a long time."

Meanwhile first-teamers Nathaniel Clyne and Adam Lallana visited Four Oaks Community Primary School to deliver tickets to pupils for the Premier League home game with Chelsea. It's part of the club's young fan initiative, with 55 tickets being provided to schools in Anfield to watch Jürgen Klopp's side. Twenty-five schools are benefitting from the scheme this season with 21 primary schools and four high schools all located in the L4, L5 and L6 postcodes being involved.

LAST SEASON THE LFC FOUNDATION...

- Worked with 20,970 individual participants, 150 schools and 1,400 young women during the LFC Foundation Girls Football Week.
- Delivered 7,960 programme sessions locally, nationally and overseas, including 460 Premier League Kicks Sessions; these most engage hard-to-reach young people to help reduce antisocial behaviour and identify pathways for further development and employment opportunities.
- Delivered 70 international sessions for 2,200 participants in six countries. Achieved nationally recognised qualifications for all 117 students at the LFC Foundation College; 18 achieved the new FA Level 1 in the Coaching Football qualification, and 26 were awarded BTEC National Level 3 Extended Diploma in Sport.
- Supported other charities by donating 1,700 items for fundraising including 34 special visits to Melwood for seriously ill supporters, 1,020 family and adult Anfield tours, and 195 signed shirts.

CLASS ACTS

Emre Can and Daniel Sturridge were on hand at Melwood to welcome Liverpool FC Foundation College students as a reward for their great start to the new academic year. The Reds stars were quizzed on a host of topics including the emergence of sport-science in football, the use of heart-monitors and fitness-tracking systems.

The students enrolled at the college in September as they look to follow in the footsteps of 35 graduates currently at UK and USA universities and seven who have progressed into professional football.

There was brilliant news for another Foundation College student, with 18-year-old Tony Donaldson signing an 18-month contract with League Two Doncaster Rovers.

Tony is the latest pupil to forge a career in the game, with the College's head of football John Keegan saying: "It shows that all young players must keep working hard at their education and game in order to realise their dreams. We create an environment here which allows the players to develop academically, physically, technically and as young adults."

Elsewhere this season young Reds defender Trent Alexander-Arnold returned to his old school, Rainhill High, to present a signed shirt.

Trent, who joined the school when he was 12, took part in a special assembly with Year 8 students before donating the jersey as a thank-you to his former teachers and students. "I had a fantastic six years at Rainhill and cannot thank the staff enough for their support," he said.

"They really helped me to balance playing football at the Academy while making sure I got an excellent education." School head John Pout added: "We have a fantastic relationship with Liverpool FC and it makes us immensely proud to see Trent and fellow former students Sheyi [Ojo] and Jordon [Ibe, now at Bournemouth] making their mark in the Premier League."

PREMIER PERFORMANCES

Created to increase participation in the game, the Premier League Schools Tournament enables hundreds of young people to experience the thrill of being treated like a top-flight footballer. Reds goalkeeper Loris Karius has shown his support, calling in at the LFC Academy to present winning teams with medals and enjoying a Q&A with youngsters.

The Foundation has also hosted the tournament in partnership with football's equality and inclusion organisation, Kick It Out, with a workshop from The Anthony Walker Foundation. Indeed Liverpool Football Club as a whole has been welcomed into Show Racism the Red Card's Hall of Fame – the first Premier League club to receive this honour.

Meanwhile fellow goalies Simon Mignolet and Alex Manninger have paid a visit to Croxteth Community Primary School for the Foundation's Premier League Primary Stars programme, taking part in games and activities focused on throwing, catching, balance and coordination. Belgian international Simon, who's also shared life-experiences with young people this season for the new Premier League Works scheme, says: "These programmes show what a great job the Foundation does in providing structured sport and educational programmes in local schools."

Defender Joel Matip is another participant in the Premier League Primary Stars Programme, visiting St Michael and All Angels Catholic Primary School, based in Kirkby. He called it "brilliant as it combines football with education – it's important that youngsters understand the importance of getting a good education as well as keeping fit and active."

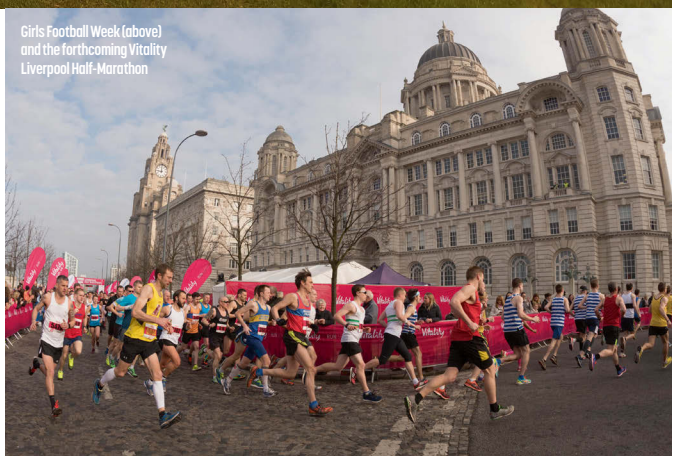
Back at Anfield five young fans from Woodchurch High School were invited to the game against Swansea City last month. They'd competed in the Foundation's Premier League Enterprise Challenge and enjoyed pre-match hospitality from an executive box before watching from the Main Stand.

RESPECT DUE

Premier League Girls aims to provide opportunities for females aged 11 and over to take part in the sport in a local community setting, and from this season it's being delivered by 91 professional clubs with 9,000 girls engaged since 2015.

As part of the project pupils at South Wirral High School received a visit from Liverpool Ladies FC players Shannon Beckwith and Mollie Green, for an LFC Foundation event alongside Bromborough & Eastham FC. The overall aim was to help the girls to improve their skills as well as offering a progression into competitive football. Shannon also visited schools in the North West during Girls Football Week, along with team-mate Emilie Revitt.

Elsewhere the Foundation's Respect 4 All scheme, which has centres in Anfield and Wirral, delivers impairment-specific coaching to young people and adults with complex additional needs. It's also been backed by Reds stars, with Dejan Lovren and Marko Grujic visiting Anfield Sports Community Centre to join in a coaching session and present participants with signed LFC scarves.



Girls Football Week (above) and the forthcoming Vitality Liverpool Half-Marathon

Dejan described it as "an absolute privilege to be able to give something back to the community." Players from the Respect 4 All programme are also annually recognised at a special awards ceremony.

Ex-Reds do their bit too. Former midfielder and current club ambassador Gary McAllister has been a guest at the Cruyff Foundation course for coaches, appearing at Anfield alongside LFC Foundation to discuss his career and hand out certificates; while Robbie Fowler has helped to promote the Vitality Liverpool Half-Marathon taking place on Sunday 2 April.

Far away from L4 there's a proud group of children in Uganda now wearing the all-red of LFC thanks to the Foundation and Merseyside Fire & Rescue Service. The kit was donated to the East African Playgrounds Charity following an appeal from MFRS firefighter Steve Cummins on behalf of his niece who works with the charity.

Kit donations have been a cornerstone of LFC Foundation's work for more than 20 years, with countries in Africa, Asia, South America and beyond benefiting in addition to the local community.

GLEN'S HOME FROM HOME

Meet one young Dubliner who's felt at home since the moment he made the move to Merseyside

Like a typical striker, Glen McAuley is always looking to score more goals. "If I get two I want a hat-trick," says the Dubliner who turns 17 later this month. "I was on a hat-trick against Stoke City and scored another but it was disallowed for offside. Against West Brom I already had two and missed another from a yard out!"

Those tales are told with a self-effacing chuckle. But the teenager's goalscoring intent is obvious and has been for as long as he's played the game. "I've always played as a striker, always had an eye for goals," explains the Eire youth international, who started out with Crumlin in the Irish capital before moving to St Joseph's then Liverpool FC.

"I always try to get myself in and around the frame of the goal and see what happens from there. That's where most of my goals come from, inside the box."

It was this innate ability – "eight or nine is probably the most I've scored in one game back in Ireland" – which first put him on the radar of LFC's Academy scouts. If they felt the forward would be a good fit at the club, the feeling was mutual because of his parents' affection for the Reds.

"Both my mum and dad are Liverpool [fans]. Then my auntie and uncle are Man United. So it's probably half-and-half in the family, but it's Liverpool for me."

That affection brought him a first visit to Anfield back in 2006 for a Premier League game with Reading when Dirk Kuyt scored both goals in a 2-0 victory. A bit closer to home, though, he also has a team: Shamrock Rovers. The allegiance to the green-and-white hooped side leads to him listing their former striker Gary Twigg as one of his favourite players, alongside Barcelona's Neymar. "It's forwards that I like to watch to pick up bits and pieces and learn from them. But I try to play my own game, in my own way."

Clearly that seems to be doing the trick as Glen is top scorer for Liverpool's Under-18s this season, his name having appeared on the scoresheet on 13 occasions to date.

Among several highlights so far he's scored against Manchester United in a thrilling 3-3 draw, and coolly converted the decisive penalty against Crystal Palace in a shoot-out at the end of an FA Youth Cup third-round tie.

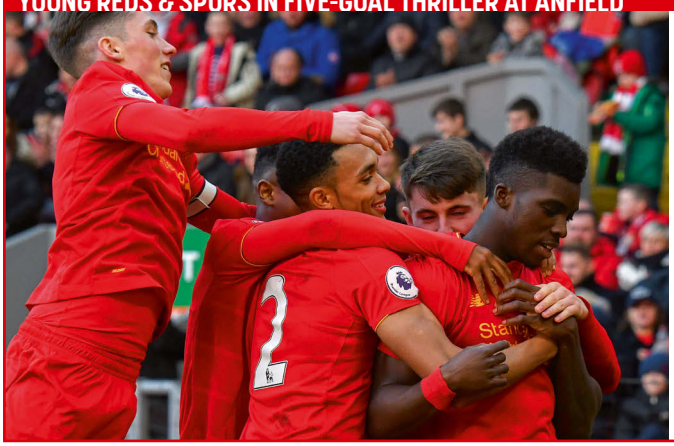
Clearly, acclimatising to a new city and a new style of football – this is his first full season with the Reds – seems to have been a straightforward process for the boy who grew up not far from the part of Dublin that also produced Robbie Keane.

"I haven't been homesick and just needed a few weeks to get used to it. This is my home now. I'd been over before during school-holidays so I had an idea what it would be like before I made the move permanently.

"The football here is more physical and played at a different rhythm. You need a few weeks to get used to it, but once you get the hang of it that's not a problem. All goalkeepers are the same: if you put the ball in the corner they won't get it!"

Spoken like a true goalscorer.

YOUNG REDS & SPURS IN FIVE-GOAL THRILLER AT ANFIELD



Mike Garrity's Under-23 Reds produced a superb fightback last Sunday to claim a 3-2 victory against their Tottenham counterparts at Anfield. They were two down before Harry Wilson converted from the spot (he's on 22 goals now for the season), Sheyi Ojo equalised then Kevin Stewart headed the winner against his old club. That victory came 24 hours after the U18s had played out a 2-2 draw with West Brom at the Academy. With Steven Gerrard looking on, they twice went ahead, first through Okera Simmonds then George Johnston. But Albion got their second equaliser four minutes from full-time.

Former Reds duo on brink of glory as Feyenoord chase first Dutch title for nearly two decades

Dirk (almost) in dreamland

While it appears that the wait to win a Premier League title could go on for Liverpool and Tottenham fans for the time being, optimism is rising among Feyenoord followers in Rotterdam that an 18-year gap between championship successes could soon be over.

De club van het volk [the club of the people] haven't won the Eredivisie since 1999 but go into tonight's home match against Groningen [kick-off 5.45pm] top of the table, five points clear of Ajax, thanks in no small part to the form of two ex-Reds.

Now aged 36, club captain Dirk Kuyt is still going strong. Often utilised by coach Giovanni van Bronckhorst in a central midfield role, he's started 20 of Feyenoord's 21 league games this season and netted seven times including an 85th-minute equaliser against title-rivals Ajax back in October.

Dirk scored 83 goals in his first spell at De Kuip before signing for Liverpool in 2006. Last month he revealed that, before coming here, he'd turned down the chance to join Spurs. He told FourFourTwo magazine: "It was on the last day of the transfer-window and at that time I didn't want to leave Feyenoord. Liverpool was the most interested club after that. When I heard about their interest, they were the only club I wanted to go to. Since childhood I have always found them a nice club."

He went on to score 71 goals – including four in this fixture – in 285 games for the Reds before returning to Feyenoord in 2015 via a three-season stint with Fenerbahce where he won a Super Lig title in 2014. Feyenoord and Kuyt won the KNVB Cup last season, their first cup success since 2008, and if they go on to win the Dutch title then former Reds goalkeeper Brad Jones will also get his gloves on a winner's medal.

A summer signing from NEC, the 34-year-old Aussie has been first-choice all season, keeping 12 clean-sheets in 20 league appearances. Brad, who appeared 27 times for Liverpool between 2010 and 2014, hasn't conceded a goal this year – the last man to beat him was Vitesse Arnhem's Adnane Tighadouini on December 17 – and with Feyenoord now on a run of seven successive league wins they may have the momentum to take them to a first Eredivisie success since 1999.

Season by season: the history of Liverpool FC as it was reported in the press

...SS, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1959

Man with a mission

The face of a man with a mission. Bill Shankly, newly-appointed Liverpool manager, has a solitary aim—to put Liverpool back in the First Division. If he succeeds he's the friend for life of all Liverpudlians.

Shankly to manage Liverpool

by Horace Yates

LIVERPOOL F.C. last night named Mr Bill Shankly, manager of Huddersfield Town, as their new manager, and he will take up his duties not later than a month from now.

He was chosen from a list of about forty applicants, but only three or four were of the calibre required.

Although Mr Shankly will enjoy more managerial freedom at Anfield than any of his predecessors (the late George Kay, Don Welsh and Phil Taylor), he comes to his new appointment without a contract for the simple reason that he prefers it that way.

He will command the biggest salary ever paid by Liverpool F.C., which means it will be over £2,000.

The militant

Tuesday 1 December 1959: the day everything changed for Liverpool FC. New manager Bill Shankly told Echo reporter Horace Yates: "When I come to Liverpool I shall be taking my jacket off and I shall expect everybody to take their jackets off. The First Division is where Liverpool should be, and that is where I aim to put them." Former boss Phil Taylor told the newspaper: "Please tell Mr Shankly that I wish him all the luck in the world. I hope his highest ambitions are realised."

1958/59 Twenty-year-old Roger Hunt signs from Stockton Heath as the Reds finish fourth in the Second Division and go out of the FA Cup at non-league Worcester City in the third round.

1959/60 Manager Phil Taylor resigns and Liverpool FC appoint Bill Shankly, previously boss of Huddersfield Town, as his successor. The Reds come third and Hunt scores 21 league goals.

Season 1961/62 saw a return to the top flight after eight long years, and Bill Shankly told the Liverpool Daily Post: "Shall I let you into a secret? When I was asked to become manager in November 1959, do you know why I accepted? It was because I had played at Anfield and known what it was like to have that Kop to beat as well as the team. And I knew that the people who produced that roar were men just like myself, who lived for the game and to whom football was their abiding passion. Football is my life – and that's how it is with them."
FA Cup semi-final heartache the following season is merely a prelude to greater things.

1960/61 Third at the start of 1961, third still at the end of the season. Striker Dave Hickson, signed from Everton just before Shankly's arrival, scores 16 including a hat-trick v Leyton Orient.

1961/62 Promoted! Boosted by summer signings Ian St John and Ron Yeats, the Reds are top from start to finish and end the campaign eight points clear of runners-up Leyton Orient.

Liverpool were crowned champions on Saturday 18 April 1964 with a 5-0 win over Arsenal in front of almost 50,000 at Anfield; all the goals were scored before the hour-mark. On the day of the game the Echo described the scenes before kick-off: "Thousands were locked out when the gates were closed at 1.45pm with a capacity crowd inside. Scenes outside had been bordering on chaos with mounted police busy controlling the crowds, reinforced by special constabulary. From 1.45pm onwards the ground was tightly packed with an exultant crowd waiting for the kick-off. 'They are just singing their heads off – they love it', said an official."

THOUSANDS LOCKED OUT AT ANFIELD

Amazing Scenes As Crowds Pack Streets And Hold Up Traffic

CHAOS WORSE THAN POLICE EXPECTED

Thousands were locked out of the ground at Anfield to-day when the gates were closed at 1.45 p.m. with a capacity crowd inside to watch the League championship decision between Liverpool and Arsenal.

A police official said: "It's worse than we expected." And by 12.30 traffic was building up to a complete block.

Hundreds of motorists were parking their cars miles from the ground and making their way to the turnstiles on foot.

Scenes bordering on chaos were reported at 1.30 p.m. when thousands of vehicles were pouring into the vicinity of the ground.

Mounted police were busy controlling the crowds and foot police were being reinforced by members of the special constabulary, said a police spokesman.

At 1 p.m. a police spokesman from E Division at Westminster Road said: "We have every available man at Anfield and they are fully extended."

From 1.45 p.m. onwards the ground was tightly packed with an exultant singing crowd waiting for the kick-off.

"They are just singing their heads off—they love it," said an official ... "but" he added, "with this big crowd it looks like being about 3 p.m. before the ground will be cleared."

This was the scene in Kemlyn Road, Anfield, late this morning as Liverpool F.C. fans queued for the game.

SPRING RACING

Complaint of rowdyism in the night at Oulton Park the Cheshire racing circuit, was made by chief paddock marshal, Mr. W. E. Smith, before the Wirral 100 motor-cycle Spring meeting began to-day.

The meeting is intended primarily to provide racing experience to young motor cyclists.

"Rowdyism could lead to the end of meetings like this," said Mr. Smith, in a broadcast on the track speaker system.

"It was not only singing and shouting. It was loud enough to disturb the people in the villages around in a wide radius if you want to 'mods' and 'rockers' go to Clarton and don't come to Oulton Park."

Mr. Smith emphasised that no one would be able to stay at Oulton Park to-night and that everyone must be off the circuit by 9 p.m. when the

EMRE CAN Q&A

It's been tough, says the midfielder, but this team will come back stronger

The recent run of results has taken a lot of people by surprise – how does it affect you as a player?

I think the most important thing is that we have to stick together. When we have good performances, we stick together and we must do the same when we have bad performances. We are one team and I think everybody knows that it's not just difficult for the team but also for the supporters and everyone around the club.

It's not easy to ignore what people are saying because you naturally tend to read the newspapers and speak to friends and a lot of people in the city. Of course they want to talk about football. It is not easy to ignore, but we have to try and do that because it's the best way to focus on the games ahead. We have to look to put those games behind us now and look forward and try to play in the same way as we did against Chelsea last time at Anfield.

How has the manager worked on restoring confidence among the players?

He is a very positive guy and has been encouraging us and trying to help us have a positive frame-of-mind so that everybody believes and thinks positively again. We have had a lot of meetings and he tries to motivate us because he also knows that we cannot forget the good times we have had this season.

We are fifth in the league – one point off fourth – which is not too bad in a strong league going into two home games against teams in the top four. We still have 14 games to go, which is quite a long time in a season, and we know how quickly things can turn around in football. Our aim is to achieve a lot of things in that time. And the first of those will be to try and get a win today.

We have to stay together, be one team and look forward. In football you never know what is around the corner. Of course after we had so many good times in the first half of the season, nobody thought that we would have a spell like this one. But you cannot always have good times. I think we can learn a lot from the past month and come back stronger.

Against Chelsea here eleven days ago the team showed what it's capable of...

It was much more like Liverpool. Everybody did their jobs defensively and I think we played good football as well – better than in the games leading up to that one. Now we have to try and return to that standard and maintain the levels we showed in that game. We have been working really hard in the training sessions and I am confident that we can get back to winning ways.

A lot of opponents have sat back and defended deeply in recent fixtures; what is the key to breaking them down in situations like that?

Most of the teams have played like that against us – even Chelsea played deeper – and we've had to try our best to break them down and score goals. We've still created lots of chances in those games so we have to be more clinical. Of course if we had taken chances and scored goals, nobody would have said anything. In a few games we have lost, we've had opportunities to have taken something from them. So we have to try and find solutions to scoring goals, then I think everybody will be speaking positively about us again.

After nine games in January this is one of only three fixtures in February with possibly just two in March; is it difficult to adapt?

It's different of course because now we have more time to train. I'm sure we will take the opportunity to spend that time working on different things to try and improve. Having three fixtures this month is good for us in that respect, but as a player you'd always much rather be playing more games. Training is good but I prefer going out to play matches with the amazing support of our fans behind us.

Surging forward against Manchester City

"WE HAVE 14 GAMES TO PLAY AND WE KNOW THINGS CAN CHANGE QUICKLY IN FOOTBALL; WE'LL STICK TOGETHER AND LOOK FORWARD"

Winter training at Melwood

"WE'VE CREATED CHANCES BUT WE HAVE TO BE MORE CLINICAL; WE'LL FIND SOLUTIONS AND EVERYONE CAN SAY POSITIVE THINGS AGAIN"

Tottenham Hotspur today, and our form so far against the top sides is very strong...

I think the Chelsea game was a good sign from us because we had lost the last three home games in a row going into that match but we showed that we're still here and everybody could see how strong we are. It was a game with a lot of intensity and there was a lot of tempo to the game.

Yes, we have played good games against the top teams, but we always try and play well whatever match we are playing in. I don't know why we haven't lost against the top teams and have struggled against some of those lower down the table. Everybody has spoken about this, but we try our best in every fixture and all we can do is look towards the next game against Tottenham and try and win this one.

Having Sadio Mane back and Philippe Coutinho returning to form is a big boost...

Having those two coming back can only be good for the team and they will help us again. We are very happy to have them back. Sadio's pace and directness means he can score goals and create good moments in a game. We need him and he can help us a lot.

Obviously he was disappointed to have missed his penalty for Senegal in their quarter-final shoot-out at the Africa Cup of Nations. I saw it on TV but I haven't spoken to him about it. He didn't score that penalty but he still had a great tournament. Even though he was naturally disappointed to see his country go out, he won't be dwelling on one penalty. He's back here now and fully focused again on Liverpool.

What is your target for the rest of the season?

It's always been to finish in the top four of the Premier League as we want to play in the Champions League next year. When you play for Liverpool, playing in the Champions League is always a target. We have 14 matches to go and we will see from game to game what happens.

There is always pressure in football. If you are a professional footballer there is pressure in the games and in the training sessions. I think everyone feels that but it's part-and-parcel of the game. You never know what might happen in the Premier League as there are a lot of good teams taking points off each other every week. That means 14 games is a long period in the season so we must keep fighting until the end.

Anfield's world-class facilities aren't just for matchdays, and just recently guests including Liverpool FC legends Gary McAllister and Ian Rush were invited to sample some Main Stand hospitality including its extensive menu - from street food on the concourse to lunch in an executive box with a view of the pitch and the cityscape beyond. Paul Cuttill, general manager of Conference & Events, and executive head-chef Chris Marshall were the hosts, and the event took place to showcase this versatile, theatre-style setting where guests can experience events at Anfield like never before. You can find out more at www.liverpoolfc.com/events.

Meanwhile Liverpool Ladies duo Mollie Green and Danielle Gibbons visited the club's own 1,200sq metre allotment in the Tuebrook area. It features reclaimed wood from the (old) Main Stand used to create pathways and raised beds, and mesh fencing from the building-site used as trellis for a wide range of vegetables and fruit being grown. Local community groups and schools will be invited to help cultivate the allotment and provide a place to learn about healthy eating, nutrition and hygiene.

Anfield Review with...

ANDREA COOPER

The head of Liverpool FC Foundation explains what today means for the LFC family...

Matchday at Anfield: always special of course, and as ever 50,000-plus fans will be roaring on the Reds to what we hope will be victory over Tottenham.

But today, as you may have noticed, is also our Foundation Day, and by 'our' I mean the club, the manager and players, the local community and the huge, huge family of Liverpool FC supporters at home and around the world.

Foundation Day is an opportunity for this wonderful worldwide LFC Family to celebrate the fact that this club has an official charity, and to raise awareness and funds.

The Foundation began in its present form as a charity in 2010. I've been here for the last two years and recently we've been working on a way to be more ambitious and make more of a difference.

So, we asked the people who know best: our fans. We asked you how important it was that your club has an official, independent, successful charity. The answer was a resounding yes. Why? Because our fans are passionate about issues close to them and they have the power to come together and act collectively to make a massive difference to the world.

Then we asked for the issue which motivated you most – and it was improving opportunities for youngsters. We know how big this issue is here in Liverpool, with one in three children living in poverty, so it seemed like a natural fit, although our mission is global as well as local.

For all that, we've also learned that only one in three of our fans had a good, confident understanding of what we do, so this is why we're launching our new strategy to focus on improving the lives of children and young people. People support charities because they have a clear purpose. I was born and brought up in this city so I've always known how much football means to people here, with youngsters no exception.

We recognise that initiatives and activities delivered in the form of a football club can inspire and motivate – and our wide range of programmes on Merseyside and beyond address the key issues of sport and health, education and employment. This way, with an identity as strong as LFC, we can improve the lives of children and young people and also provide support for our strategic partners too: Alder Hey Children's Charity, Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, and University of Liverpool & INTO University.

If I had to pick one moment, since I've been in this role, a moment which shows what can be achieved, it would be the All-Star Charity Match at Anfield in March 2015. A collaboration between the club, Steven Gerrard and Jamie Carragher, it brought together some of the most famous footballers in the world to play here and it raised £1 million – twice our initial target.

One of our values is unity, and that day showed what can happen when the LFC Family comes together: we can do great things. It's not just former players either: the club's current first team are keen to get involved and we have a manager with a big heart in Jürgen Klopp who will always give us his time. He believes in what we do.

Our vision is to mobilise our fanbase to become the leading football foundation transforming the lives of children and young people all over the world. We think that we already do great work – but we want more, and we want better.

Follow us on Twitter @LFCFoundation.

FINLAY'S FAMOUS FOREFATHER!

Young Finlay Howitt is a Liverpool fan with a claim-to-fame: he's the great, great grandson of LFC legend Alex Raisbeck!

Finlay, five and from Loughborough, was here recently for his first-ever game at Anfield, the FA Cup tie with Plymouth. He's in the photo below with mum and dad Alex and Dan and grandad Gord (whose brother Stewart, sister Heather and nephew Iain are Anfield ever-presents). The Raisbecks have remained season-ticket holders since Scottish half-back Alex hung up his boots, took up his seat in the Main Stand and became a founder shareholder of the club.

Alex Raisbeck was Liverpool's first superstar, the Steven Gerrard of his day. Capped eight times by Scotland (one of his international shirts is held at the club museum), he skippered LFC to a first top-flight title in 1901 and another in 1906. In later years the Liverpool Echo remembered him like this: "What a trier he was! Whoever saw him play can never forget the unmatchable enthusiasm he displayed in the sheer love of the game. He helped to create that inward sacred fire of zeal without which no club can thrive!"

Five-year-old Keaton Ground is attending his first game at Anfield - have a great day says dad Jamie!

RAY OF HOPE
THE RAY KENNEDY STORY
'A fascinating biography ... Dr Lees tells Ray Kennedy's story from all perspectives – personal, sporting, medical' – Richard Williams in the Independent on Sunday
DR ANDREW LEES and RAY KENNEDY

As a former Arsenal player, Ray Kennedy will have particularly enjoyed his Anfield bow for Liverpool. Bill Shankly's final signing for the Reds in 1974, he announced himself with a goal inside 22 minutes of his debut, a 3-0 win at Chelsea.

A week later he became one of an elite band of players to have scored on both his home and away debuts for the club when he wrapped up a 5-2 win against Tottenham at Anfield in a match which had seen Phil Boersma score a first-half hat-trick.

Ray became an integral part of the Liverpool line-up for over seven years, having been converted from a centre-forward into a top-class left-sided midfielder by Bob Paisley. His final medal haul with the Reds comprised five league titles, three European Cups, a UEFA Cup and a League Cup.

Written by Andrew Lees, Ray's doctor and a lifelong Liverpool fan, this is a moving biography which recalls Kennedy's decorated career but also his battle with Parkinson's Disease.

It includes the following quote from Shankly, which sums up his incredible talent: "Ray Kennedy was born to play. A natural, great ability and an obvious Liverpool player who could be moulded. I knew he could play anywhere. When players of his class become available, you buy them."

A HISTORY OF LIVERPOOL FC IN 100 OBJECTS

46. Alan Hardaker trophy

Steve McManaman celebrates his 45th birthday today. He was the first Liverpool player to win the Alan Hardaker Trophy, started in 1995, for his man-of-the-match display in the 1995 League Cup final, scoring twice against Bolton at Wembley.

Two other Reds have since won the award: Robbie Fowler, scoring a beauty as Liverpool defeated Birmingham City in 2001; and more recently Stewart Downing in the 2012 final as the Reds earned their eighth League Cup success with another penalty shoot-out success, this time versus Cardiff City at Wembley.

Alan Hardaker was secretary of the Football League from 1957 and was involved in the inception of the League Cup. McManaman, who now works as an analyst with BT Sport, played 364 games for Liverpool during the 1990s, scoring 66 goals.

BACK STORY

Regular rivals down the years – here's a look back at some of the league clashes between the Reds and the Lilywhites from the past 50-odd seasons...

Robbie Keane scores his and Spurs' second in a 2-2 draw at Anfield in October 2007.

Ian Rush shoots at goal during the Reds' 2-1 away win in March 1986; Rushie grabbed a vital 90th-minute winner.

Fernando Torres heads a late equaliser to earn a 2-2 draw at Anfield in Oct 2007.

August 1969 and Tommy Lawrence makes a save during Liverpool's 2-0 win at White Hart Lane.

David Johnson hurdles Terry Naylor as Glenn Hoddle looks on at WHL in March 1980; Spurs won 2-0.

Roger Hunt scores at White Hart Lane in March 1964; Hunt's hat-trick gave Liverpool a 3-1 result.

May 1982 and LFC clinch the league title thanks to a 3-1 victory; Kenny Dalglish celebrates as a header from Mark Lawrenson (out of picture) loops over keeper Ray Clemence to make it 1-1.

Jon Flanagan nets the Reds' third in a 5-0 win at White Hart Lane in December 2013.

Emile Heskey heads home during Liverpool's 3-2 win at White Hart Lane in March 2003.

Michael Owen runs the ball into the net for the Reds' second in a 2-0 win at Anfield in April 2000.

POINT MADE

GEORGINIO WIJNALDUM'S HEADER and a Simon Mignolet penalty-save earn the Reds a point after David Luiz's free-kick had put the visitors ahead in the first half.

MIGNOLET'S MAGNIFICENT SPOT-KICK stop was his sixth for Liverpool - now just four off the club league record set by Reds goalie Sam Hardy over a century ago.

GINI: "AT HALF-TIME the manager said get into the box to create a chance, and that's what I did. It was an early cross, Millie put it back and I was in the right place."

TICKET NEWS

TICKET EXCHANGE: A GREAT ASSIST FOR LFC SEASON TICKET HOLDERS

Liverpool FC's Ticket Exchange enables Season Ticket Holders to release their seat if, for whatever reason, they can't make it to a match. No seat ever needs to be left empty for matches at Anfield. The Ticket Exchange offers Season Ticket Holders the chance to reduce the cost of their Season Ticket and allows another supporter to get to the game to support the Reds...and it helps combat ticket touting. If your seat is re-sold, you'll earn up to £44.25 off the cost of your 2017/18 Season Ticket. Visit www.liverpoolfc.com/tickets/ticket-exchange for more details.

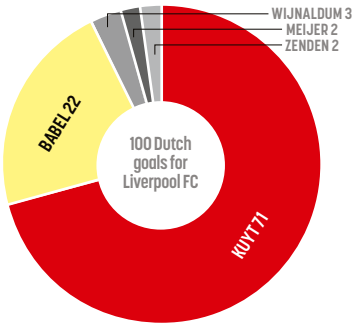
PENALTY POINTS...

Simon Mignolet has saved six of the 14 penalties he has faced in the Premier League as a Liverpool player. Only three men have saved more in the club's league history: Sam Hardy (10), Bruce Grobbelaar and Elisha Scott (eight each). James Milner's penalty in the 1-1 draw at Spurs in August was the 20th in this fixture, matching a Premier League record set by Everton v Newcastle.

BEAUTIFUL ORANGE...



6 LFC are undefeated in our last six Saturday tea-time league fixtures, winning five. We have beaten Man City (twice), Crystal Palace, West Brom and Leicester and drawn with Spurs.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

In the event of an emergency at Anfield you will hear a police message over the public address system. It will be preceded by a loud 'bing-bong' sound.

Please remain where you are, listen to the message and, if it affects your area of the stadium, comply with the instructions immediately.

These will direct you to a safe area, through exit gates and doors into car parks, roads or the pitch area.

If you are disabled or feel unsafe in a large crowd, remain where you are until the stewards assist you to leave.

Above all, REMAIN CALM and DO NOT MOVE unless the announcement concerns your area of the stadium.

NEXT UP FOR THE REDS...

Following a 16-day break, Liverpool return to action two weeks on Monday with a trip to champions Leicester City (8pm). The Reds will be chasing a Premier League double having beaten Claudio Ranieri's men 4-1 at Anfield back in September when they marked the opening of the expanded Main Stand in style. Last season's trip to the King Power saw Leicester win 2-0 on their way to the title but the Foxes need the points for a different reason this time, lying just one point clear of the drop-zone.

KICK OUT DISCRIMINATION

Liverpool Football Club is fully committed to equality within the game, and will not tolerate racism, homophobia, or any form of discrimination both on and off the pitch.

Anyone who does witness behaviour which is likely to cause offence is encouraged to report this via the club's dedicated Incident Line on 0800 298 4999.

Please be aware of your nearest steward, to whom you can report any issues in confidence. The Club is committed to investigating all reported incidents, as we are fully determined to make Anfield a place that is open to all individuals, regardless of their race, religion, sexual orientation, age, gender or disability.

Help us to make Liverpool Football Club a welcoming environment to all.

REMINDER: USE OF PYROTECHNICS AND SMOKE BOMBS IS PROHIBITED

Liverpool Football Club would like to remind fans that flares, smoke bombs and pyrotechnics are illegal and prohibited. Any individual who is found taking these items to Anfield or any other stadium may face prosecution and a banning order.

The use of such devices breaches ground safety regulations and poses serious risk of injury to fellow fans. Although there has been a decrease in the use of these illegal items, there has been some instances recently where they have been used.

The club would like to remind supporters of the serious consequences they may face surrounding the use of pyrotechnics.

Thank you for your continued support in keeping Anfield a safe and welcoming environment for all supporters.

A TRIP TO LALLANA LAND

The new issue of the club's official magazine features an in-depth interview with midfielder Adam Lallana who explains why he can't get enough of the game. There are also exclusive interviews with Ragnar Klavan, Under-23s manager Mike Garrity and Liverpool Ladies' new signing Casey Stoney. Issue 55 is out now, and you can buy it AND the programme for just £6 in our matchday double-deal.
